DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-5, 7, 8 & 10-22 are now pending.

Election/Restrictions

2. Applicant's election of Group I (A), i.e., claims 1-5, 7, 8 & 10, in the reply filed on August 17, 2005 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

3. Claims 11-22 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention(s), there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on August 17, 2005.

Priority

4. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Objections

5. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities:

Claim 1, lines 8-9: "which is a counterpart" should be --which writable recording medium is a counterpart--.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

6. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 2652

7. Claims 1-5, 7, 8 & 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

a. In claim 1, lines 7-8, the phrase “is equal to that of a predetermined data unit” is indefinite because it is not clear whether it refers to a size of the first data type, a size of the second data type, or both.

Claims 2-5, 7, 8 & 10 are dependent upon claim 1.

b. Claim 2 recites that “the first and second data types are located at a user data area”, which is inconsistent with the recitation in base claim 1 that “the second data type does not contain the user data”.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

8. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

9. Claims 1, 2, 4, 5 & 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kikuta (JP 05040663, please refer to the machine translation).

In regard to claim 1, Kikuta discloses a read-only recording medium (Drawing 1, element 1) containing recorded data, wherein a first data type (abstract, constitution: “valid data”) including user data is recorded and a second data type (abstract, constitution: “invalid”) is placed at a predetermined interval between first data types, wherein the second data type does not contain the user data, wherein a size of the first data type and the second data type is equal to that of a predetermined data unit to be used in a writable recording medium, which is a counterpart of the read-only recording medium, the predetermined data unit including user data and invalid data (abstract, constitution: "Both invalid and valid data are written into each area of a CD-ROM 1 and the areas of a magnetic disk 2 corresponding to those areas of the CD-ROM 1 respectively").

In regard to claim 2, Kikuta discloses that the first and second data types are located at a user data area (interpreted as the area in the disk 1 where the "valid" and "invalid" data area recorded) of the read-only recording medium.

In regard to claim 4, Kikuta discloses that the second data type includes an invalid data (abstract, constitution, line 1), wherein a size of the second data type is equal to that of the invalid data of the predetermined data unit to be used in the writable recording medium (abstract, constitution, lines 1-4).

In regard to claim 5, Kikuta discloses that the second data type is preceded or followed by the first data type areas (understood from the abstract).

In regard to claim 7, Kikuta discloses that a size of the second data type is equal to that of the invalid data to be allocated intermittently in the user data of a writable recording medium (abstract, constitution, lines 1-4).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

10. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

11. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kikuta in view of Zook (US 5,920,578).

For a description of Kikuta, see the rejection above. However, in regard to claim 3, Kikuta does not disclose that the first data type includes at least one error correcting code (ECC) unit, which includes an error correcting code.

Zook discloses a CD-ROM having a first data type including at least one error correcting code unit, which includes an error correcting code (column 1, lines 12-27). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention by the Applicant to have applied the teachings of Zook to the medium of Kikuta, the motivation being to obtain accurate and error-free reproduction of data (column 1, lines 17-20 and 25-27).

12. Claims 8 & 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kikuta in view of Kamoto et al. (US 5,708,649).

For a description of Kikuta, see the rejection above. However, Kikuta does not, but Kamoto et al. disclose: in regard to claim 8, that a plurality of pre-pits with each having the same length being formed in the second data type (column 8, lines 47-48: "pre-pits formed on a reproduced CD-ROM"); and in regard to claim 10, that signals produced from said plurality of pre-pits are used for servo-control (column 8, lines 46-47: "tracking error signal is generated by the reproduction of pre-pits").

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention by the Applicant to have applied the teachings of Kamoto et al. to the medium of Kikuta, the motivation being to prevent erroneous tracking (a well-known purpose of servo control), thereby maintaining accurate reproduction of data.

Response to Arguments

13. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-5, 7, 8 & 10 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

14. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
